CLEVELAND (AP)-A Senate committee's interest in the relationship between former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender and the Teamsters Union led to the finding here of an invoice for eight $100 champagne buckets and a "Christmas

This was part of the testimony given in U.S. District Court Wednesday by Sen. John L. Mc-Clellan (D-Ark) and Walter J. Sheridan. Senator McClellan was chairman and Sheridan an investigator for the Senate committee investigating racketeering in labormanagement relations.

Teamster Presser's Trial

They testified here in the trial of William Presser, president of Teamsters Joint Council 41, on an indictment charging obstruction of justice by the mutilation and concealment of council records subpoenaed by the committee.

McClellan said Sheridan was own cleanup committee Aug. 5,

Sheridan said the champagne bucket invoice was among other documents he found and requested House Expense bucket invoice was among other documents he found and requested of Presser. Sheridan said that when he asked the union leader for the records, Presser said he wanted to photostat them first. Books Opened Sheridan let him.

On Sept. 13, 1958, four days afterward, Sheridan said he returned to the council office, where Presser handed him the records, which reportedly had not been photostated in the interim.

WASHINGTONVILLE PROJECT BEGINS AGAIN - A small group gathered Wednesday on Maple St. in Washingtonville to observe the reopening of the village's $196,000 sanitary sewer project. Contractor for the completion of the work is Walter Rupert, who bid $30,400. In the group above are (foreground) Donald Weikart, president of the board of public affairs, and (breaking ground) Mayor Donald Vignon. In the background are an unidentified bystander, Robert Bertolette, Joe Woods, Walter Rupert, Jim Henderson, Bob Bertolette and the Rev. Paul Kormtheuer. An irregularity in a previous contractor's operations halted the project two years ago. The construction is costing each property owner in the village $225. Work is expected to be completed in September.

Technical School Sign-Up

The first applicants are beginning to register for the new Salem School of Technology. a cooperative school where students will alternate their 12 weeks of classroom study with 12 weeks in one of the 16 cooperating industries in the Salem district.

The three-year co-op school, which will utilize the facilities and equipment of the trades extension wing of the Senior High School, has been made possible by the combined efforts of the Salem Board of Education, the State Department of Education Division of Trades and Industry and the plants in the local and northern Columbiana County district.

It affords interested, qualified high school graduates with an opportunity to continue their education on a college level while employed in an industry. Each job station in a plant will employ two men. While one is at work for the 12 weeks, the other is in school. At the end of the 12 weeks, they change positions, following this system of rotation throughout the school term.

At the outset, courses will be offered in mechanical engineering technology and electrical engineering technology.

The program is a golden opportunity for boys interested in mathematics and science who are not going away to college. Even a boy with insufficient background may, through the flexibility of the present Trades Extension program in the Salem public schools, be able to enroll in one of the related training subjects such as machine trades. auto mechanics and drafting.

The state has invested $60,000 in needed equipment for the technical institute and may add to the facilities as the program grows. The Salem Institute of Technology, which is a credit to the community and to the interested school men and industrial leaders who pioneered it, also will mean much to the students who later will become the highly skilled craftsmen who are so sought after in

Welcome to Happy Haven, Mr. Rhee

Korean politics being even harder to understand than our own homegrown variety, that mystery can be shelved for the time being.

Even Syngman Rhee, the former president of Korea, who wore out his welcome, must find it hard to understand why some of the same people who wanted to get rid of him now are complaining because he left the country. They should be glad to have him in Hawaii, where it is unlikely he could exert any further influence over Korean politics.

His exile points up again the need in a more perfect world for a political "Happy Haven" to which politicians with worn-out welcomes could retire when their numbered days have expired. Ideally, this retreat would be set up and supported as a United Nations

Its atmosphere would be politically neutral Deposed politicos from all nations could sit in pleasant surroundings and go over their recollections. Ghost writers would flit in and out to help them with their memoirs. Only one provision would be made that might seem irksome at first thought.

All the inmates of "Happy Haven" would be obliged to pool their property. No one would be better off than anyone else. But the United Nations would guarantee absolute security for all as its share of the deal.

Kings, dictators, prime ministers, pretenders, aging despots and discredited tyrants all would be admissible. So would former presidents if they chose to apply. The setup would be wholly voluntary, but designed especially for men with no further ambition for power. Mr. Rhee would be an ideal

Carrot and the Absence Thereof

Even though this country's aid to Cuba amounts to only $200,000, which is the salt off peanuts compared with the billions spent elsewhere, it makes a taxpayer feel better to know that Fidel Castro finally has talked himself out of it.

He will continue to throw an anti-American fit, but that is an old story to him and to Cuba. In the United States, it's a new story when a nation finally is reminded that receiving U.S. aid is a privilege, not a right. The new story will make the old one sound

If more carrots had been jerked out of the reach of more obstreperous donkeys since U.S. aid began its multi-billion-dollar growth at the beginning of World War II, the American people would have less need to worry

Welcome Improvement

A modern new front now greets visitors at Salem City Hospital, a welcome sight for the many persons who were accustomed in the past to trudging up crumbling steps amidst overgrown shrubbery.

The City Hospital Association's board of trustees has kept pace with building expansions and modernization where new construction was made, but not until recently were any improvements made to the old part of the original hospital structure. Completion of the attractive new entrance and the downstairs dining room is to be followed next by a remodeling of the main lobby and offices. Cheerful hospital surroundings are beneficial to both patient and visitor.

Gov. Rockefeller has consented to a draft. How about a draft form? For instance:

Full name. . . . 1. What is your occupation, and, with your money, why?

2. Address. List all your homes. Do you regard it as too late for a log cabin or doesn't one make any difference in politics these days?

3. Are you the head of a family and who can better afford it?

4. How many are dependent on you for support and please excuse this question as it's all in fun.

5. What is your income per week? Use both sides of sheet in giving the sum.

5. Have you ever had following ailments? Deposit box anemia? Arthritis of the ledger? Hardening of the inheritance arteries? Petroleumitis? White House fever? Bankers flat feet? Vice presidential reluctance?

7. Has your bank roll ever been rejected as below standards necessary for survival in the current economic situation?

28. State your battle training, exclusive of press conference photographic ambushes and encounters with Rolls Royce agencies trying to sell you $14,000 cars by the dozen.

9. Do you suffer from chronic pains in the neck or only when you hear the word,

10. Explain why you think your combat ordeals of life in Washington. 11. How are your teeth: (Remember we know very well from your photographs but would like full details to compare them with Nixon's. 12. Would you prefer to be drafted for about their carrot supply, and there would be fewer obstreperous donkeys.

Traditionally, donkeys are made to see the light by a choice between going forward to reach a carrot, or being forced forward with a stick if they show no interest in the carrot The United States, however, has used no stick - only a carrot. It now is going to use the absence of a carrot, too.

It always has had the option of removing the carrot if it didn't seem to be serving its purpose. This is not an easy thing to do when the Soviet Union is standing by, eager to offer a cabbage, as it did when the United States ran out of patience with Egypt's Nasser and withdrew its offer to help finance the Aswan Dam.

The point is that cabbages are no substitute for carrots. The Soviet Union now will smother Castro in cabbages, but it will be a long time before he will see any more carrots when the current supply runs out.

Lamp Post Beauty

Those flower baskets which the Kiwanis Club members installed on downtown light poles have added a bright touch to the business district.

Kiwanis Chairman Ralph Martin and his committee spent considerable time on the project, aided by the ladies of the Garden Club who always are interested in community beautification.

If the flower pots hanging on the lamp post brackets are kept well-watered as planned, there's no reason why the foliage can't be admired until late fall.

There was nothing quixotic in Cordiner's tone when he told colleagues and scientists recently that "with high grade earth sources of metal becoming scarcer with each passing decade, the idea of bringing in a new Mesabi (reference here is to the Minnesota iron range) from outer space may be less fantastic in 30 or 40 years than it is now."

Several companies, including GE, already are exploring the feasibilty of establishing a commercial satellite system for long distance communications, private weather forecasting and modification and "terrestrial rocket transport."

These could be the first profitable ventures for stockholders of the imaginative corporations. But Cordiner quite frankly told a group in Royce Hall at UCLA that he believed outer space should be the province of free competitive private enteprise.

Soviets? This question may become as important as the one the Democrats have raised in blaming the President for the collapse of the summit conference. In fact, Adlai Stevenson was in Paris on the eve of the conference as promising that major changes in foreign policy would come after the November elections in this country. Mr. Stevenson at first denied that quoted in an interview published

he gave the interview to the Paris newspaperman, Robert Boulay but the next day he admitted it and said the French visitor at his home wasn't very good with his English and doubtless misinterpreted what was said.

THE SENATE recently had a spirited debate over what was supposed to have been said by Mr. Stevenson in the same interview.

This correspondent published the Stevenson denials but now is in receipt of a letter from Howard N. Fowler, managing editor of the "Mansfield (Mass.) News," which throws new light on the contro-

He writes

"Robert Boulay was in the United States on a tour arranged by Mr. William Hadley, Jr., of the Governmental Affairs Institute, Washington.

"As a former Mansfieldian, Hadley is an acquaintance of mine. He asked if I would host Boulay for a few days to enable the visitor to get a little of the flavor of small-town American grass roots. I accepted.

"Be assured, Boulay does speak fluent English, although this was his first visit to the United States. He lived in my home four days, was intoduced to many of my friends and was found to be a most interesting and articulate fellow at a small dinner which I hosted.

"Almost instantly upon his arrival at Boston's Logan Airfield, Boulay expressed grave concern over an interview he had with Adlai Stevenson. He repeated to me many times this concern. "First, he was concerned because, in effect, Stevenson had said to Boulay, 'This is off the record,' and in the same interview commented, 'I'm not telling you anything I haven't said a thousand times before.

"The enclosed copy of our 'News' has a brief reference to Boulay's concern.

"Boulay told several of us here that he asked Stevenson if he could foresee change in American foreign policy. Boulay reported that Stevenson said without hesitation, 'Drastic change.'

"Boulay said he pressed Stevenson for amplification. Stevenson said he would gradually withdraw American troops from Germany.

"Stevenson told Boulay, or plainly inferred, that he is not averse to compromise with Russia and concessions in the nuclear

"In the short time Boulay was in Mansfield, during which he dined one evening with me, a ranking lawyer, a New England business executive, a greenhouse operator, a radio station president and others, he left the impression of being a very serious-minded chap, well educated, very well read, unusually conversant with world affairs, and very much disturbed by what Stevenson said.

"As he left my home for the ride to Boston for his departure. he continued to ask, 'What can I do?' and he continued: 'If I print what Stevenson said to me, I could stir great concern in France; it would be bad, perhaps.'

"If I am a fair judge of newsmen, after 40 years' service myself, Boulay is a dedicated reporter who very likely heard what Adlai had to say with complete understanding."

THE APRIL 21 issue of the "Mansfield News quoted Boulay as saying he had important information which he was forced to "sit on" because of his off-the-record pledge with Stevenson. When Boulay got to Paris, he evidently made up his mind that, just as American senators and representatives often "leak" to the press information from confidential off-the-record sessions and justify this as being "in the public interest," he would do the same. So the Paris-Presse published the interview in detail and Nikita Khrushchev read it before the Paris conference began. In fact, he paraphrased one of the quotations in a speech he delivered a few days later.

The Kremlin has for many months been given to understand by leading Democrats in this country, through their published utterances, that if a Democratic administration come into power, things will be better for the Moscow regime.

What the Kremlin doesn't understand, however, is that all this is largely just partisan politics and that, if the Democrats do win the presidency, their foreign policy probably will not differ much from that of the preceding administra-

It does illustrate perhaps the lack of "coordination" among the Democratic leaders just now and their faulty sense of "timing" as they continue to harp on their own government's alleged mistakes in the U2 incident.

That for Statistics

By TRUMAN TWILL

All over the country, cities ei- the game would be worth the ther have lost population in the candle preliminary census figures, or failed to grow as fast as their boosters have claimed they were growing. The 1960 census has turned out to be a moment of truth for civic tub-thumpers. Their tub is leaking. They don't know what to do about it and in fact there's nothing they can do about it. So, being human, they are doing what comes naturally. They are trying to give someone a black eye.

That is a fascinating thought the supposition of the complainers that a recount would help matters. Obviously, none of them ever counted a penful of chickens twice. The first time it seems as if there must be more chickens than that - only 43. The second time, however, there are 39. The third time the total goes to 45, but then it goes back to 37 and about the seventh time two chickens jump out of a place where they hadn't been visible at all and the counter realizes the only way to count chickens is to catch them, count them and put them somewhere else until the chicken house is

That would be the only way to count people - catch them, enumerate them and corral them until the count had been completed. The Bureau of The Census must to do in the decennial census, but the truth is it knows darned well it cannot count its chickens while for statistics! they are on the run.

Something else it knows is that It cannot estimate chickens any more accurately than it can count them. It seems to be a million or more off on its estimate of the national population in 1960, but for all it knows it may have been short on the estimate. Or it might be long on the count, There's no way to be sure.

If that fact could be pinned down and mounted under glass in connection with the 1960 census,

The news invites letters from its readers on all important cur-rent topics, but the letters should be brief, not to exceed 200 words and they must bear the signature and address of the writer to in-sure publication. Unsigned letters can not be

There's no way to be sure. The dreadful certainty of the kind of people who claim everything is a statistic or can be processed into a statistic is scary. These creeps are always telling how their statistics show thus and so and urging the rest of us to make plans accordingly.

This is the year when they'll tell us, among other things, how the election will come out.

They've told us how much money we'll make, how many of us will shuffle off and how many little bundles of joy will take our places

They've predicted how much money well spend and what it will be spent for - automobiles, boats, draperies, carpeting and bridgework.

The unvarnished truth is that their statistics don't hold waterand that statement requires no statitic. Statistics give themselves the lie

Population statistics might as well be figures pulled out of a hat. No one can prove or disprove them, though one thing is certain. Anyone who cannot see with his own eyes that most cities have lost population to the suburbs that surround them is blind. There didn't have to be a statistic to prove that, though in city after city the be tactful about what it purports statistic that does prove it is being snorted at by the mayor and the Chamber of Commerce. Periodic Crises Expected by West viet Union and the Western powers for the next six to 12 months.

During this time there may be periodic crises brought on by Soviet or Red Chinese efforts to probe for weakness among the Allies and throw them off balance.

Berlin and Southeast Asia are considered danger points, but the chance of a major Soviet challenge to the West at Berlin is presently believed to be remotepending a proposal by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for a new summit conference.

In the interim British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle are expected to take the lead in trying to work out closer ties between Britain and international economic organizations on the continent. These include the European Common Market, the European Atomic Community and the Coal and Steel Community.

Macmillan reportedly feels that the failure of the Paris summit meeting last month, and the resulting blow to his hopes for broad improvement in relations with the Soviet Union, makes it necessary for Britain to re-examine its policy of standing largely apart from the continental allies in the economic field. De Gaulle wants to forge the nations of the European area into a new force in world affairs, as he made clear in a speech this week.

The impact of the summit failure on East-West relations and the development of future allied strategy were discussed around the dinner table Wednesday night by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. They met at Herter's

The present belief among Western officials, however, is reported to be-not that the Chinese Reds are planning a frontal attack on any country-but that they will try by subversion to make trouble in countries under allied protection, like South Viet Nam.

So far as diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union are concerned, Western officials are said to be largely convinced that Khrushchev does not want to start the cold war going full scale again. On the contrary they think he wants to keep the way open for summit negotiations with Eisenhower's successor some time next

SUMMER PERMANENT

With the lazier, warmer weather rapidly approaching, certainly you'll be looking for many easy, relaxing moments. Why not prepare for it by cutting your hair care time to a minimum. A good permanent will render your hair manageable and keep it wellgroomed. Regardless of the texture or condition of your tresses, a cas. ual wave can be arranged for your season in the sun.

Now is the time to make your days more leisurely and your evenings as comfortable as possible. This calls for a good permanent.

Cuban Air Force Pilots Arrested In Purge

HAVANA (AP) - The cream of Cuba's air force, including most of its jet pilots, has been arrested in a purge ordered by Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro, informed sources say.

Suspicion of loyalties of the pilots and others developed after discovery of an anti-Communist counter-revolutionary plot among air force personnel, the informants said.

The Armed Forces Press Bureau said it had no information on the mass arrests, which reportedly began May 27 and are continuing.

At least 16 military pilots are being detained, sources said. All of them were holdovers from the regular Cuban air force under exdictator Fulgencio Batista.

TESSERA

this new Armstrong vinyl floor, Tessera Corlon, is unique. And different. It acnally has depth. You can look down into it. The softly colored vinyl chips set in translucent vinyl form fascinating random patterns. Tessera's natural textured effect adds elegance to any interior, yet never dominates. It's vailable in monochromatic stylings or with accent chips of contrasting colors. And Tessera can be used in every part of your home (even in a basement hideaway).

If you can't stop in to inspect this wonderfully new vinyl flooring - write or call today for samples and information.

The cast of "The Tenth Man" or over the telephone and a state attended a union meeting at cur- ment of the charge will be mailed tain time instead of reporting to you. backstage at the Booth Theater. The producers, represented by the New York League of Theaters, said the actors' failure to appear for the performance constituted a strike.

HOURS FOR PLACING ADS
Renewals of ads that appear the previous day, cancellations and corrections may be made until 9:00 a.m. on the day of publication.

Lost and found ads will be accepted to 9:00 a.m. daily.

Late Wednesday night the league said notices will be posted on bulletin boards of all 22 Broadway houses infoming the casts:
"Productions are suspended and productions are suspended and will remain suspended until Equity tells us these stoppages will cease."

The union said it was directing actors to report for work at all theaters tonight half an hour before curtain time. If the play- 1 houses are closed, an Equity spokesman said, the actors will consider it a "lockout."

Closing of "The Tenth Man" was in line with Equity's announced plan to close one show at a time-for one night at a time - unless new contract demands are met. The old threeyear contract expired at midnight Tuesday. Negotiations far past the deadline failed to end in any agreement.

Own A Home?

No? Then you must pay rent. If you add up your rent receipts for the last year, or years, you will get the total amount of money you wasted, money you could have been paying on your own home. I have several homes which can be bought for a low down payment such as the following: A five room, partly modern house, full basement, coal heat and it can be bought for as low as $100.00 down. It needs a little work but it's a start toward home ownership. Total price is $4,000.00. It is number 15 in our window display. Two duplexes, excellent money makers both, and can be bought with as low as $1,000.00 down. Call today for an appointment to see these and several other houses which can be bought on terms.

May Pike Revenue Exceeds $2 Million

CLEVELAND (AP)-May reve nue for the Ohio Turnpike exceeded two million dollars last month or the first time since the to road was opened nearly five years ago, Chairman James W. Shocknessy of the Ohio Turnpike Commission said Wednesday that revenue during May totaled approximately $2,06,000 compared with $1,916,483 in the corresponding month of 1959.

Shocknessy also cited the safety record on the turnpike during the four-day Memorial Day weekend. He said although a total of 211,651 vehicles were on the turnpike during the period there were only 11 reportable accidents and but four involving personal injuries. He said the injuries were minor.

SCIENTIST GET GRANT

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ten Ohio scientists have received grants-in-aid totaling $71,282.20 to conduct research on diseases of the heart and blood vessels, announced Dr. Dale P. Osburn, Cincinnati, president of the Ohio State Heart Association. The grants were among 216 totaling nearly $1,700, 000 awarded scientists throughout the country under the national research program of the association and its affiliates.
